Subject: Dialog with Pete Kaliner - The “robo” call - “Buncombe GOP infighting over "ruthless attacks".

Mr. Kaliner,

Please respond to my e-mail to you on April 24th, regarding your live comments on your April 23rd radio show.

Thank you,

So, Mr. Kaliner,

Early in your three (3) hour segment yesterday, entitled “Buncombe Republicans - kicking over our own bucket?”, you took the opportunity to play the audio of a “robo” call being put out by Amy Evans. You continually interrupted the audio by inserting your own caustic comments about the call, ranging from bashing Amy Evans to bashing who may or may not have assisted her in creating the text for that call.

In a later segment, you said you were going to do Amy Evans a favor by replaying the “robo” call again (this time without interruption), because you could broadcast her “robo” call to a much wider audience than she could get with her making the “robo” calls. You indicated you were actually helping Amy Evans, even though earlier, you practically eviscerated her.

So, Mr. Kaliner, explain to me how your behavior on live radio with the treatment of Amy Evans and her “robo” call was any different than what you spent the greater portion of your three (3) hour radio show accusing Lisa Baldwin of what she was doing with Nathan West.

Using Mumpower’s Pearl of Wisdom, “ ... Holding grudges with the half-life of plutonium ...”, it seems as though you appear to be holding a similar grudge against Lisa Baldwin. I don’t expect you to hold the grudge as long as Mumpower suggests, since the half-life of plutonium is 24,100 years, and we will all have turned to dust.
