Subject: Gavin Alan Brown gets Probation period shortened, Courtesy of Judge Athena Brooks.

Gavin Brown faced Judge Athena Brooks on 10/29/2020 for a hearing “up for review”. Brown’s last visit before a Judge was Gregory Horne. See:

Gavin Brown’s three (3) month extension of his probation period decreed by Gregory Horne was to end on 12/20/2020. This hearing was basically “up for review”. Gavin Brown was once again represented by David Brown, (Gavin Brown is David Brown’s uncle) who came before the court with a plethora of pablum, pleading to have Gavin Brown’s probation period shortened, including but not limited to -

- Gavin Brown’s wife just died (that would be Jackee)
- Gavin Brown has a new girlfriend,
- Gavin Brown’s drivers license has been revoked,
- Etc., etc., etc...

So evidently, David Charles Brown and Gavin Alan Brown know how to work the system, as Judge Athena Brooks took pity on him and reduced his probation period to end on November 23rd, 2020.

I could unload a bunch of comments on Gregory Horne and Athena Brooks, but instead, congratulate Gavin Alan Brown, and his lawyer, David Charles Brown, for being able work the system.

This means Gavin Alan Brown will be eligible to get his law license out of hock and continue to practice law.

Based on Gavin Brown’s history, we will keep an eye out for any future nefarious activity.
